Developmental Center, and (4) waivers for Developmental Disabilities (DD), Support Services (SS), and Autism.

Secretary Roob also presented the following information: (1) There are currently 337 people receiving services through the Autism waiver and 2,853 on the waiting list. (2) There are currently 5,400 people receiving services through the DD waiver and 14,137 people on the waiting list. (3) There are currently 3,548 people receiving services through the SS waiver and 9,479 people on the waiting list. (4) FSSA's expenditures for 2004 for Autism were $12.2 million, $329.4 million for DD, and $26.3 million for SS. (5) FSSA's expenditures for 2005 for Autism are $11.6 million, $338.9 million for DD, and $27.9 million for SS.

In addition, Secretary Roob discussed planned changes to the DD, Autism, and SS Waivers. In response to questions from Commission members, Secretary Roob stated that the objectives of the new plan are to: (1) reduce the administrative burden related to the budget approval and billing processes, (2) apply savings realized against expected cost increases and remove individuals from waiver waiting lists, and (3) change billing documenting from quarter-hour units to per diem rates for residential and day services. Case management will also change from a quarter-hour billing unit to a monthly rate based on historical expenditures. The initial cost estimates call for $14 million in savings annually. Savings will be a combination of state and federal dollars (62% federal funds and 38% state funds). The savings will be returned to the system in the following manner: The first $8 million will be devoted to expected cost increases in pharmaceuticals, case management, and behavior management. Beyond that, 50% of all savings will be devoted to removing individuals from waiting lists. FSSA projects that $3.5 million will be spent to move individuals off the waiting lists.
